ABSTRACT

The invention relates to a method of providing DICOM SR constraints within an XML document. An XML document is created containing DICOM SR constraints using declarative language. The document can then be accessed and displayed if desired.